

Villa Hegra and Film AlUla announce new partnership on Scriptwriting Residency with Le Groupe Ouest expertise

Cannes, France - May 19th, 2026: During the 2026 edition of the Cannes Film Festival, Villa Hegra and Film AlUla, in partnership with AFALULA, announced the launch of a new scriptwriting residency, marking a new chapter in cinematic collaboration between Saudi Arabia and France.

A new artistic residency for filmmakers and screenwriters

Focused on the theme of "The Art of Shaping Film Ideas", the residency program is delivered by Le Groupe Ouest and LIM² | Less is More. This residency is dedicated to supporting filmmakers during the earliest stages of feature film creation, with a focus on narrative exploration, story development, and artistic authorship.

Structured across collaborative sessions at Le Groupe Ouest in Brittany, France and at Villa Hegra in AlUla, Saudi Arabia, the initiative will include two cycles: an international residency open to eight filmmakers from Saudi Arabia, France, and all around the world, alongside a national residency dedicated to eight Saudi and MENA-based filmmakers.

Connecting Brittany and AlUla

Unfolding between Brittany and AlUla, the international residency creates a dialogue between two distinct creative territories connected by their striking natural beauty, cinematic landscapes, and strong relationship to place. From the rocky coastline of Brittany to the sandstone formations of AlUla, the program offers filmmakers immersive environments dedicated to reflection, ideation, and artistic exchange.

This collaboration highlights Film AlUla's pivotal role as the Royal Commission for AlUla's film agency, in supporting the region's growing cinema sector, not only as a destination for international productions, but also as a center for film culture, talent development, and creative exchange. Through partnerships spanning production support, filmmaker development, cinephile initiatives, and community engagement, Film AlUla continues to grow the local film ecosystem.

As the prominent Saudi-French cultural institution, Villa Hegra fosters long-term collaborations across artistic disciplines while supporting new creative voices. This scriptwriting residency reflects Villa Hegra's footprint in supporting AlUla's cultural landscape and reinforcing its position as a global destination for contemporary cinematic creation and international artistic dialogue.

Developed with the support of the Centre national du cinéma et de l'image animée (CNC), the residency brings together internationally recognized expertise in script development through Le Groupe Ouest and LIM². Widely regarded as leading references in Europe for accompanying filmmakers during the writing process, Le Groupe Ouest and LIM² have played a significant role in supporting a new generation of international auteur cinema. Over the past two decades, Le Groupe Ouest has accompanied more than 2,500 filmmakers and writers internationally, while LIM² has become closely associated with the emergence of bold new voices presented in major international festivals.

Beyond the residency, the announcement underscores a broader and expanding cinematic partnership between Villa Hegra, Film AlUla, and AFALULA - the French agency for AlUla development. Following the success of the community film appreciation programs launched in AlUla, upcoming initiatives will include the opening of a new cinema club conceived as a space for discovery, conversation, and shared cinematic experiences. Together, these initiatives reflect a growing cultural dialogue between Saudi Arabia and France through cinema and artistic exchange.

Applications for the international scriptwriting residency are now open, and the national scriptwriting residency dedicated to Saudi and MENA-based filmmakers will be announced shortly.
